Draft rules have been framed and published for public criticism.

(2) In view of answer to (1) the question does not arise.

Mr. H. J. Walmesley.—The royal assent was given in 1935; yet Commissioners have not yet been appointed to bring the Regulation into operation. May I know when the commissioners will be appointed to bring the rules into operation?

Mr. T. S. Narayana Ayyar.—Government thought that these rules might be brought into operation by the first of Chingom 1112. But a technical difficulty arose. The draft rules have to be published for criticism. These rules can be brought into force only by the end of Chingom or Kanni.

Stud bulls—stationing in more centres.

60. Mr. A. Eachara Menon.—Will the Government be pleased to state:—

(1) how many stud bulls are there in the Ollur Farm;

(2) how many cows are old enough to be covered by these bulls;

(3) how many cows these bulls had covered till now this year;

(4) what the average cost is to maintain a bull in the Farm;

(5) what number of times there had been demand from Chittur, Vadakkancheri, and other places for stud bulls;

(6) in view of the decided opinion and immediate action of the present Viceroy of India in the matter of helping the Agriculturists with the stud bulls of good breed, whether they would expedite the supplying of agriculturists of the State with stud bulls?

Mr. K. Krishna Warriar.—(1) There is no Farm at Ollur; if the Hon'ble Member means the Government Farm at Ollukara, there are 9 bulls.

(2) 39.

(3) 66.

(4) Re. 0—4—6 daily.

(5) Chittur 3.
Vadakkancheri 2.

A list of places from where requisitions have been received for maintaining stud bulls is appended. (Vide Appendix II).

(6) The question of stationing of pedigree stud bulls in the several centres of the State was taken up in right earnest some years back. Bulls were stationed in some selected centres according to the availability of funds at the disposal of the Department. The question of stationing more stud bulls is also engaging the earnest attention of the Government.

Mr. A. Eachara Menon.—Is there not a rule framed by the Government enjoining those who have stud bulls that these bulls should cover at least 50 cows?

Mr. K. Krishna Warriar.—Yes.

Mr. A. Eachara Menon.—May I know why these nine bulls are kept in the Ollur Farm?

Mr. K. Krishna Warriar.—They are two very important breeds of cattle. One is Ongole and the other two are of the Nellore breed. Two are intended for covering the she breeds in the farm and the remaining four are for serving the public. For the information of the House I may say that two bulls were sold this year.

Mr. President.—Why cannot these bulls be stationed in different places?

Mr. K. Krishna Warriar.—There will be additional expenditure. Every bull will require a keeper and the construction of a building and other charges. So it is more costly.

Mr. President.—I suppose the bulls eat something in the Farm.

Mr. K. Krishna Warriar.—It does not cost much when they are in the Farm. We want only one man for half a dozen bulls.

Mr. A. Eachara Menon.—Whether the places mentioned in Appendix II are supplied with bulls.

Mr. K. Krishna Warriar.—Of course the places mentioned here are not all supplied with bulls. We have received some applications. Due to paucity of funds we were not able to provide, and Government were not willing to give more funds.

Mr. T. S. Narayana Ayyar.—Some of the bulls which were at large and were a menace to the public and which belonged to Devaswoms and other institutions were captured and sent to the Farm. We do not know what to do with them. If people come forward agreeing to maintain them they will be distributed to various centres.

Mr. President.—If any local man comes forward agreeing to maintain the bull we will be prepared to supply them.

Mr. A. Eachara Menon.—Was there not an application for a bull by one man from Padiayarpalayam?

Mr. President.—Government will be prepared to consider the applications if people will agree to maintain bulls at their cost.

APPENDIX I.

Question No. 48.

Rules for admission in the College classes.

1. Princes of the Cochin Ruling Family and Cranganur, irrespective of the marks obtained by them in the School Final Examination.

2. Students of the Depressed Classes.

3. Jews and Muslims are invariably admitted unless the individual's marks are extremely poor. No restriction is observed in the case of their girls.

4. Women students and students of the backward classes to be admitted in the proportion which the applications received from each bears to the total number of applications.

5. Selection of other students from among the general applicants is made on the basis of marks scored by each individual in regular order.

6. The children of Government servants should be given some preference in the matter of admissions to the College.

7. No non-Cochinites are to be admitted in preference to Cochinites even when an individual happens to have the very best marks. If vacancies are available, which invariably happens in a few groups of the B A. classes, they are, of course, given to non-Cochinites.

8. Non-Cochinites coming from Cochin schools are given preference over non-Cochinites from schools outside the State.
